Pastor's Message/Mendaje del Pastor
Third Sunday of Easter/Tercer Domingo de Pascua

And he said to them, "Thus it is written that the Christ would suffer and rise from the dead on the third day and that repentance, for the forgiveness of sins, would be preached in his name to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem. You are witnesses of these things."(Luke 24:47-48)

During the Easter season, the gospel readings will be reminiscing the appearances of the risen Jesus to the world. In today's episode Jesus reappears to the disciples as they were talking about the Emmaus experience. He clarifies their doubts about Him being raised by allowing them to touch him, examine his wounds and even ate with them!

Would we feel comfortable in acknowledging the fullness of Jesus' presence in the bread and wine after consecration? Would we be able to relate to Him as a person just like us, leading us to better pastures and a deeper understanding of love and ministry? Every Eucharistic celebration takes us to experiences both in and out of this world!

The risen Lord "opened their minds to understand the Scriptures." Even now, we are doing our best to continue with our bible classes virtually and we hope to be back to the usual in-person gatherings within the soonest possible time. The Holy Spirit will lead us to even better ways of growing in the faith through the various ministries at St. Faustina's.

Again, I say Happy Easter and a blessed rest of the season to you and yours!

Those who say, "I know him," but do not keep his commandments are liars, and the truth is not in them. But whoever keeps his word, the love of God is truly perfected in him.(1John 2:4-5a)

Father Ramon

Y les dijo: "Así está escrito que el Cristo sufrirá y resucitará de entre los muertos al tercer día y que en su nombre se predicará el arrepentimiento para el perdón de los pecados en todas las naciones, comenzando desde Jerusalén. Ustedes son testigos de estas cosas "(Lucas 24: 47-48).

Durante la temporada de Pascua, las lecturas del evangelio recordarán las apariciones de Jesús resucitado al mundo. En el episodio de hoy, Jesús reaparece ante los discípulos mientras hablaban de la experiencia de Emaús. Él aclara sus dudas acerca de su resurrección al permitirles que lo toquen, examinen sus heridas e incluso ¡coma con ellos!

¿Nos sentiríamos cómodos reconociendo la plenitud de la presencia de Jesús en el pan y el vino después de la consagración? ¿Podremos relacionarnos con Él como una persona así como nosotros, que nos guía a mejores pastos y nos lleva a una comprensión más profunda del amor y de el ministerio? ¡Cada celebración eucarística nos lleva a experiencias tanto dentro como fuera de este mundo!

El Señor resucitado "les abrió la mente para comprender las Escrituras". Incluso ahora, estamos haciendo todo lo posible para continuar con nuestras clases bíblicas virtualmente y esperamos volver a las reuniones habituales en persona lo antes posible. El Espíritu Santo nos llevará a formas aún mejores de crecer en la fé a través de los diversos ministerios en Santa Faustina.

De nuevo les deseo una Felíz Pascua y un bendito resto de la temporada para usted y los suyos.

Los que dicen: "Yo le conozco", pero no guardan sus mandamientos, son mentirosos, y la verdad no está en ellos. Pero quien guarda su palabra, el amor de Dios es verdaderamente perfecto en él (1 Juan 2: 4-5a).

Padre Ramon

Blessed Marie-Anne Blondin

Esther Blondin was born in Terrebonne in Quebec, Canada on April 18, 1809 to a family of devout Christian farmers who taught her to have a strong faith in God and patience in suffering. They were like others of their time, illiterate, but hard working.

As a young woman, Esther worked as a maid in the Convent of the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame. Later on she lived there in order to learn to read and write. This led her to become a novice, but she had to leave due to bad health.

Esther became a teacher in a Catholic school in 1833, soon learning that one cause of this illiteracy was due to a Church ruling which forbade girls being taught by men and boys being taught by women. Unable to finance two schools, many parishes chose to have none. In 1848, Esther gave a plan to her Bishop to found a religious congregation "for the education of poor country children, both girls and boys in the same schools". This was a radical project for the time. But the State was in favor of such schools, so Bishop Bourget agreed to a modest attempt, but only for children up to age ten.

Now Esther was the Mother Superior, named Mother Marie-Anne. On September 8 she founded The Congregation of the Sisters of Saint Anne in Vaudreuil, teaching children of all ages. There was rapid growth, soon needing a larger school. However, Father Louis Adolphe Marechal was now put in charge, made his own rules, meddled in the financial and spiritual life of the Congregation, sabotaged Marie-Anne's work and succeeded in having her removed from her position in the Congregation by having her resign. Marie-Anne was then sent to do menial work, such as laundry and ironing. She accepted this demotion which influenced many novices with her obedience and humility. As time passed, she was also never allowed to have any administrative responsibilities. When asked why she accepted this path of menial work, Marie-Anne said "The deeper a tree sinks its roots into the soil, the greater are its chances of growing and producing fruit".

Many times she was elected to be the Mother Superior but was denied this position. She was also deprived of her legitimate rights and robbed of all her personal letters with her bishop, but she offered no resistance and left everything in God's hands to find a solution. She felt that "He will know well, in his Wisdom, how to discern the false from the true and to reward each one according to his deeds".

Prevented from being called "Mother" by those in authority, Marie-Anne also accepted this so her Community might flourish. She prayed to St. Anne every day "to bestow on her spiritual daughters the virtues so necessary for Christian educators". Marie-Anne died on January 2, 1890 in Lachine Canada. She was venerated by Pope John Paul II on May 14, 1991, who also beatified her April 29, 2001. April 18 commemorates the feast of Blessed Marie-Anne Blondin.
